30-year mortgage rate stays at 4.4%

Average rates on U.S. long-term fixed mortgages remained steady for a second straight week.

Mortgage buyer Freddie Mac says the average rate on the 30-year loan remained unchanged at 4.4 percent.

That is a full percentage point higher than in early May, when rates neared record lows.

From wire reports