

Chattooga River Festival

FOR THE JOURNAL

LONG CREEK — The website for the 2012 Chattooga River Festival was recently made available for viewing, www.chattoogariverfestival.com.

Chattoogariverfestival.com will act as the main platform for information about the festival, related events and environmental initiatives during the June 22 through 24 events in Long Creek and Clayton, Ga.

Website features include information about the festival organization and organizing committee. There is a schedule of events including information about the Ronny Cox

Band Show and his "Dueling Banjos: Deliverance of Drew" book signing and the all-day Chattooga Belle Farm Music

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 2012

launches website

Festival & Festival Village with performances by: The Mosier Brothers, Michelle Malone, Shannon Whitworth, Heather Luttrell, Sol Driven Train, Nitrograss, Conservation Theory and Timberline. Purchase tickets online and view information about registering for various contests, including the dueling banjos competition, banjo boogie adventure race and makeshift boat race.

Each year the festival is themed around an important aspect of the river's history. The inaugural festival will commemorate the movie "Deliverance" as a tribute to the 40th anniversary of the film's release.