Energy story turns 40

Duke World of Energy celebrates birthday with fun & games

Elizabeth Daniels of Pickens is doing her best Michael-Jordan-eats-cotton-candy impersonation.

Brittany and Jeremiah Heaton of Six Mile wait patiently for the talents of "Balloon Man" J. D. Daniel of Fountain Inn to produce a prize.

Now that's a stroller! Jeannie Foster of Pendleton can move five-sevenths of her brood at one time with this stroller. Foster and her husband attended Saturday's World of Energy birthday bash with their seven children, including 2-year-old Elise (left) and 14-month-old triplets Kacey, Camden and Kiki (left to right).

Tuesday, July 14, 2009 - Daily Journal • Daily Messenger

Hot times at the World of Energy

Brett McLaughlin/Staff

Fire-eater Ralph Summer of Newberry dazzled the crowds with his talents during Saturday's 40th birthday party for Duke Energy's World of Energy. Hundreds turned out for the family event. Additional photos appear on A7 and at www.upstatetoday.com