Staff Reports

Thursday, November 4, 2010

SENECA — The Friends of Lake Keowee Society will host a forum in two parts at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 11, at the Duke World of Energy. The first will be a presentation by Dr. John Hains, Clemson University limnologist. He will discuss the curious, sometimes peculiar-looking, critters that are found in the waters of local lakes.

The second part of the forum will be an open question-and-answer period starting with an update of the status of the proposed Palmetto Pointe Commercial Marina. The Friends of Lake Keowee Society has retained legal counsel and is challenging the proposal.
