Leopards create good spotting for zoo visitors

GEORGE GARDNER / Staff

Michelle Brown helps her 8-month-old daughter, Sydney, get a better view of the Amur leopards at the Greenville Zoo on Wednesday. Some conservation groups say the Amur leopard is the most endangered species of the big cat, with only about 34 remaining in the wild.