Reserve names new manager

THE JOURNAL STAFF

SUNSET — After a nationwide recruitment effort, The Reserve at Lake Keowee's Board of Directors recently announced the appointment of Alexander Raimondi as the property's new community club manager. Raimondi hails from a long and distinguished career in successful private club management with emphasis in staff development, financial planning and marketing.

Lauren Harper Newton, who works with marketing and communications for the Reserve, said Raimondi "brings a lot of experience" to management and that he managed the BMW Pro-Am well.

Raimondi

Raimondi has extensive experience in private club, country club and community association operations. He served as general manager/chief operating officer at the prestigious Wilderness Country Club in Naples, Fla., The Polo Club of Boca Raton, Fla. and the Nashawtuc Country Club in Concord, Mass. Raimondi is an active member of the Club Managers Association of America.
