A brand-new year often inspires people to try on a fresh new look. But homes, too, can benefit from a small face-lift, or at least a few tweaks.

The Greenville Remodeling Expo, which takes place Jan. 13-15 at TD Convention Center, offers homeowners plenty of ideas and insights to help choose that new look and bring it to life.

Exhibitors from just about every aspect of the home-renovation process will fill the 50,000-square-foot Conference Hall. Homeowners can learn about energy-efficient products and appliances, flooring, cabinets, countertops, sunrooms and many other topics.

In addition, seminars and question-and-answer sessions will be offered throughout the weekend. Topics include choosing the right home insulation, chimney maintenance, refinishing cabinets, and improving the performance of home heating and air systems.

There will be prize giveaways as well, including water treatment systems and remodeling services. For more information, visit www.homeshowcenter.com.
