The Reserve at Lake Keowee will join Thornblade Club and Greenville Country Club's Chanticleer course in a new course rotation for the 2013 BMW Charity Pro-Am, which will take place May 16-19, 2013. The Carolina Country Club in Spartanburg, a part of the tournament since 2008, will not be part of the rotation.

The Reserve at Lake Keowee is a 7,112-yard, 18-hole Jack Nicklaus Signature golf course that includes undulating hills, beautiful scenery of the Blue Ridge mountains and picturesque lake views.

"Adding The Reserve at Lake Keowee to the tournament lineup offers many new opportunities for our event," said Executive Director Darin MacDonald. "The Reserve at Lake Keowee not only gives the amateurs and pros a new and challenging course to play, it really captures the beauty of the Upstate and provides a picturesque backdrop for our tournament."

"While this is an exciting time for the tournament, we'd be remiss not to thank The Carolina Country Club for all that they have done to take this tournament to the next level," said Bob Nitto, president of South Carolina Charities, Inc. We've shared a great partnership over the past five years, and SCCI is very appreciative of the effort that the Carolina Country Club has put forth for our event. This tournament will continue to support the Spartanburg community through the tournament's charity beneficiaries and by increasing our support of the annual International Challenge Cup golf tournament that benefits Mobile Meals of Spartanburg."
