The power of stories

The Warehouse Theatre offers a free forum at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday titled "The Power of Stories: The Human Need for Legend."

The discussion tackles the "why" behind the universal need to organize our fears, hopes, taboos and aspirations into narrative. Why is myth so important? How do stories move us to action and understanding when mere information cannot?

Featured panelists are storyteller Becky Stone and George Frein, scholar and Chautauqua artistic director.

Moderated by Maxim Williams, the forum takes place at the Warehouse Theatre, 37 Augusta St.
