US home prices grew 12.4% in July

U.S. home prices jumped 12.4 percent in July from a year earlier.

Real estate data provider CoreLogic said Tuesday that home prices in every state but Delaware climbed on annual basis in July.

Ninety-nine of the 100 largest cities reported annual price gains.

CoreLogic also said prices rose 1.8 percent from June, the 17th straight month-over-month increase.

— From wire reports