US stocks edge up after good news

Stocks closed slightly higher on Wall Street after encouraging reports on the U.S. economy.

The government raised its estimate for U.S. economic growth in the April-through-June quarter to 2.5 percent from 1.7 percent. The number of Americans seeking unemployment benefits also continued to decline.