

Oconee Heritage Center announces photo contest

THE JOURNAL STAFF

WALHALLA — Local photographers and history buffs are encouraged to enter the Oconee Heritage Center's Capturing History photo contest. All photo entries must feature historic spots in Oconee County.

"We are looking for striking photographs of historic subjects that exhibit the history of Oconee County," Oconee Heritage Center curator Leslie White said. "Subjects can include historic sites, historic buildings, old homes, old farms, living history and historic artifacts related to Oconee County."

The deadline for submissions is July 19. Photographs will be on exhibit at Oconee Heritage Center and online through the museum's Facebook page. The public can cast votes for their favorite photos.

The 12 photos with the most votes will be featured in a 2018 event celebrating Oconee County's sesquicentennial.

For more information and contest rules, visit oconeeheritagecenter.org.