

Southern Home and Garden Show starts 3-day run today

DONNA ISBELL WALKER
DIWALKER@GREENVILLENEWS.COM

Each year, September brings the start of fall, the heart of football season, and in Greenville, the autumn incarnation of the Southern Home and Garden Show.

The expo, put on by the Home Builders Association of Greenville, kicks off Friday at TD Convention Center. As always, there will be plenty of chances to learn about the latest in home renovations, décor and lots more.

Exhibitors will showcase a range of home-related products and services, including bath fixtures, lighting, gutters, insulation, heating and air, flooring, landscaping, security systems and more.

Demonstrations will be presented throughout the weekend. The Chefs Kitchen sponsored by Ingles will feature cooking demos, as well as sessions

YOU CAN GO

What: Home Builders Association of Greenville's Southern Home and Garden Show

When: 10 a.m.-7 p.m. Sept. 15 and 16, and noon-5 p.m. Sept. 17

Where: TD Convention Center

How much: $7 for adults, $5 for seniors. Children 12 and under get in free.

For more: www.southernhomeandgarden.com on subjects such as home décor and table setting.

Home Depot Kids Workshops will give the younger family members a chance to learn about working with tools, and they can make their own DIY projects to take home.

In addition, this year's show will feature Ultimate Garage: I Want That!, with demonstrations and info on garage renovation and decoration.